如何做一個較好的傾聽者

Communicating with a person affected by Alzheimer’s disease requires patience and understanding. One of the most important skills is to be a good listener.

When helping the person communicate:

- Be patient and supportive
  Let them know you’re listening and trying to understand what they are saying.

- Offer comfort and assurance
  If the person is having difficulty expressing themselves, let them know it’s all right. Encourage them to continue to explain their thoughts.

- Don’t argue
  If the person says something you don’t agree with, let it be. Arguing often only makes things worse.

- Encourage him to communicate non-verbally
  If you don’t understand what they are trying to say, ask them to point or gesture.
How to be a better communicator

• Talk slowly and clearly
  Be aware of speed and clarity when speaking.

• Patiently wait for a response
  Persons with dementia may need some extra time to process your requests.
  Give them the time and encouragement they need to respond.

• Repeat information or questions
  If they don't respond, wait a moment and ask again. Use the same phrasing and words as before.

• Turn questions into answers
  Try providing the solution, rather than the question. For example, say,
  "The bathroom is right here" instead of asking "Do you need to use the bathroom?"

• Give visual cues
  Demonstrate your request by pointing, touching or beginning the task for the person.

如何做一個較好的溝通者

• 講話要緩慢和清楚
  講話時要注意速度和清晰度。

• 耐心地等候回應
  失智症患者需要較多的時間去理解您的要求。給他足夠的時間及鼓勵
  來回應您。

• 重覆您的資訊或問題
  假如他沒有回應，請稍待片刻後再提問。請仍使用同樣的字句。

• 把問題轉換成答案
  試著提供答案而不是問題。例如，您可以說：“浴室就在這裏。”用以
  替代“您是否需要使用浴室?”。

• 給予視覺上的提示
  以手指出、觸摸或示範向患者表明您的請求。
